FAIRPLANE

Guided city tours

Based on ten customer interviews and observations from the Fairplane Guided City Tours team

Claudia Larmon · Menaka Mahajan · Jerome Phillips · Alejandro Flores · Emma Sato

SCENARIO

Browsing, booking, attending, and rating a local city tour

Entice

How does someone initially become aware of this process?

Enter

What do people experience as they begin the process?

Engage

In the core moments in the process, what happens?

Exit

What do people typically experience as the process finishes?

Extend

What happens after the experience is over?

Steps

What does the person (or group) typically experience?

- Booking other travel — Most customers discover city tours as they are booking other Fairplane travel
- Visit website or app — A customer navigates to the city tours section of our website or app
- Choose a city, dates, and number of people — The customer types a city, dates, and the number of people who will attend the tour to see what tours are available
- Browse available tours — The customer sees available tours for their dates, city, and number of people
- View detail on a single tour — Afterseeing a tour that interests them, the customer clicks or taps to view more. They see information about what and where the tour will cover, plus its price, time of day, and tour guide.
- Start purchase of a tour — After deciding to go on this tour, they click the Purchase button
- Complete payment information — They fill out their contact and credit card information, then continue
- Confirm payment & book tour — They see a summary of what they are about to purchase, then they confirm and the tour is booked!
- Email confirmation — An email immediately sends to confirm their tour and provide details about where and when to meet their guide
- Email reminder — One day before the tour begins, a reminder email is sent to all tour participants. The email emphasizes where and when to meet, and what to bring (if applicables.
- Arrive at tour location — Using their own means of transportation, the customer makes their way to the tour location at the scheduled time.
- Meet the guide & group — Tour participants meet the guide and other people who have joined the same tour
- Experience the tour — The guide brings the group around the area, explaining things as they go. Typically this lasts about 3 hours.
- Leave the guide & group — The guide wraps up the tour and everyone heads their separate ways
- Prompt for review — One hour after the tour finishes, an email and in-app notification prompt the tour participant for a review
- Writing & submitting review — The tour participant writes a review and gives the tour a star-rating out of 5.
- Tour appears in the user profile — The completed tour appears on the "past experiences" area of a customer's profile with a few details on where the group went
- Personalized recommendations — Participation in the tour informs our backend recommendation systems, which the customer may experience via better personalization
- Personalized tour offers — The customer receives an email 14 days after their tour with personalized recommendations for other tours
- Personalized tour suggestions after new travel booking — When a past tour participant books new travel with us, we show them personalized tour recommendations in their arrival city.

Interactions

What interactions do they have at each step along the way?

- People: Who do they see or talk to?
- Places: Where are they?
- Things: What digital touchpoints or physical objects would they use?

- Booking other travel — Travel booking section of the website, iOS app, or Android app
- Visit website or app — City tours section of the website, iOS app, or Android app
- Choose a city, dates, and number of people — City tours section of the website, iOS app, or Android app
- Browse available tours — City tours section of the website, iOS app, or Android app
- View detail on a single tour — City tours section of the website, iOS app, or Android app; The tour guide makes first appearance at this point, although the customer doesn't interact with them yet.
- Start purchase of a tour — City tours section of the website, iOS app, or Android app
- Complete payment information — Payment overlay within the website, iOS app, or Android app
- Confirm payment & book tour — Payment overlay within the website, iOS app, or Android app
- Email confirmation — Customer's email (software like Outlook or website like Gmail)
- Email reminder — Customer's email (software like Outlook or website like Gmail)
- Arrive at tour location — Tour locations tend to start in a specific public space (e.g. the steps of a statue in a town square); The customer looks for the group or guide, often from a distance as they walk closer
- Meet the guide & group — Direct interactions with the guide, and potentially other group members
- Experience the tour — Direct interactions with the guide, and potentially other group members; Some tours include interactions with shopkeepers or restaurant staff (e.g. on a food-oriented tour); Most common objects people interact with on tours are bikes, Segways, food, and beverages.
- Leave the guide & group — Direct interactions with the guide, and potentially other group members; Often takes place at the same place where the group met the guide, but not always; Depending on the tour participant and guide, tipping/cash may be involved
- Prompt for review — Customer's email (software like Outlook or website like Gmail)
- Writing & submitting review — "Leave a review" modal window within the profile on the website, iOS app, or Android app; To some degree, this is communicating indirectly with the tour guide, who will see their review
- Tour appears in the user profile — Completed experiences section of the profile on the website, iOS app, or Android app; If other users interact with this person, they will see these completed tours also
- Personalized recommendations — Recommendations span across website, iOS app, or Android app
- Personalized tour offers — Customer's email (software like Outlook or website like Gmail)
- Personalized tour suggestions after new travel booking — Post-purchase screens website, iOS app, or Android app

Goals & motivations

At each step, what is a person's primary goal or motivation? ("Help me..." or "Help me avoid...")

- Booking other travel — Help me get this flight or hotel booked
- Visit website or app — Help me have more fun or learn new things on my trip
- Choose a city, dates, and number of people — Help me avoid seeing tours for the wrong dates, locations, or numbers of people
- Browse available tours — Help me see what they have to offer
- View detail on a single tour — Help me understand what this tour is all about
- Start purchase of a tour — Help me commit to going on this tour
- Complete payment information — Help me get through this payment part without too much hassle
- Confirm payment & book tour — Help me feel confident that my purchase is finalized and tell me what to do next
- Email confirmation — Help me feel confident that my purchase is finalized and tell me what to do next
- Email reminder — Help me make sure I don't forget about my tour so that I don't waste money or get disappointed
- Arrive at tour location — Help me feel confident about where to go and which one of these people is my guide
- Meet the guide & group — Help me feel good about my decision to go on this tour and to feel welcome
- Experience the tour — Help me make the most of my trip to this new place
- Leave the guide & group — Help me leave the tour with good feelings and no awkwardness
- Writing & submitting review — Help me spread the word about a great tour or provide watch-outs and feedback for one that was not so good
- Tour appears in the user profile — Help me see what I've done before
- Personalized recommendations — Help me see what I could be doing next
- Personalized tour suggestions after new travel booking — Help me see ways to enhance my new trip

Positive moments

What steps does a typical person find enjoyable, productive, fun, motivating, delightful, or exciting?

- Choose a city, dates, and number of people — It's fun to look at options and imagine doing each tour, like shopping for experiences
- View detail on a single tour — Tour photos, videos, and explanations are exciting to see; It's reassuring to red reviews written by past travelers
- Start purchase of a tour — Excitement about the purchase ('Here we go!')
- Complete payment information — Current payment flow is very bare-bones and simple
- Email reminder — We've heard from several people that the reminder emails were essential, especially if they booked way in advance
- Meet the guide & group — Our guides tend to be so good that people are reassured when they meet their guide
- Experience the tour — People love the tour itself, we have a 98% satisfaction rating
- Leave the guide & group — People generally leave tours feeling refreshed and inspired
- Tour appears in the user profile — People like looking back on their past trips
- Personalized tour suggestions after new travel booking — We think people like these recommendations because they have an extremely high engagement rate

Negative moments

What steps does a typical person find frustrating, confusing, angering, costly, or time-consuming?

- Choose a city, dates, and number of people — People sometimes forget to put in their dates or number of people, which leads them to discover tours they can't actually attend
- Browse available tours — Several people expressed "information overload" as they browse
- View detail on a single tour — People express a bit of fear of commitment at this step
- Start purchase of a tour — Trepidation about the purchase ('I hope this will be worth it!')
- Arrive at tour location — People expressed awkwardness about finding their guide in a public place
- Meet the guide & group — Sometimes people are matched up with tour participants that they don't really like
- Leave the guide & group — People are unclear whether a tip is necessary, especially for non-Americans on an American tour; People feel peer pressure to tip a guide when someone else on the tour tips, leaving them feeling weird and bad if they don't
- Prompt for review — Customers report feeling review fatigue; We have very low review rates (15% of people review experiences and tours)
- Writing & submitting review — People describe leaving a review as an arduous process

Areas of opportunity

How might we make each step better? What ideas do we have? What have others suggested?

- Visit website or app — If you don't follow this path immediately after your booking, could we send a follow-up?
- Choose a city, dates, and number of people — Could we automatically carry over the city from your booking? (e.g. via a cookie)
- Browse available tours — Make it easier to compare and shop for experiences without having to click on them
- View detail on a single tour — Provide a simpler summary to avoid information overload; Show highlights or common phrases from reviews, or Uber style "great guide" badges?
- Arrive at tour location — How might we make our guides easily identifiable (via a distinctive hat or shirt color, for example)?
- Leave the guide & group — How might we make it clear that tipping is appreciated but not necessary?; How might we equip people to tip after the tour? (e.g. via Venmo or equivalent app); How might we totally eliminate this awkward moment?
- Prompt for review — Could we A/B test different language to see what changes response rates?
- Writing & submitting review — How might we progressively disclose the full review so that each step feels more simple?
- Tour appears in the user profile — How might we help people celebrate and remember things they've done in the past?; How might we extend the personal connection to the guide long after the tour is over?